"BOOKMARK" SWITCH FOR TALKING BOOK MACHINES

Our engineer became aware that users of Talking Book Machines often fell asleep (or had a phone call or other interruption) while listening to books and magazines. The tape continued playing, losing the listener's "place". He developed a switch and 6' long cord, which plugs into the existing remote control port on the tape player (marked REM) and interrupts the power unless our momentary "dead man" switch is held down. As users begin to doze off, they relax, release pressure on the switch and the recording pauses at that point - in effect, creating a bookmark. To resume listening, it is a simple matter to rewind a short distance and pick up the recording where it left off. Especially useful when following instructions or recipes, for students, or anyone who relaxes by listening to talking books.

Its concept is to visualize elapsed time in a more dramatic display than the familiar clocks. high color contrast makes it possible to know the remaining time without the need to focus on, or understand, the hands or numbers of the traditional clock face. It gives the child a chance to know what elapsed time looks or feels like. To set the timer move the hand to desired time interval. The red disc will diminish as time elapses until no red visible on the timer face and the hand is at 0.Time will elapse until the 60 minutes are up. WIDE-VIEW RECTANGULAR MAGNIFIER

The rectangular shaped magnifying lens "stretches" the 5"-inch circular viewing area to 6.75" inches. Visual scanning speed is increased because more surface area is magnified at any given position. Light is as important as magnification. With proper illumination levels, magnification requirements are significantly reduced. That is why Dazor uses a powerful 18-watt compact fluorescent light source to produce 125 footcandles at 15"-inches above the work surface. Exact positioning of the light source behind the lens allows for a choice between even, shadow-free illumination or a hi-lighting effect. Shadow-free viewing is achieved by holding the object directly under the light source. A hi-lighting effect is produced when the object is moved slightly away from the center of the light source. 3-5 diopter lens measures 5" by 3": 11 diopter lens measures 3" diameter 16 diopter lens measures 3" diameter.
